Make the move right ...

Tips for a smooth move

Packing It All Up:

- Boxes, boxes and more boxes. No need to pay for them, though! Save your grocery order boxes and reinforce the tape at the bottom.
- Fill each box completely. When things have the extra space to move about, they can get damaged. Make sure each box is sealed well.
- Label the boxes clearly on all sides with the room where they need to end up in your new home. While using a Sharpie to label the boxes works fine, try color coded tape, which makes it very easy for yourself to see exactly in which room each box needs to go.
- Each piece of glassware, china, silver and other fragile items should be individually wrapped before being placed in a box. Make sure to label these boxes fragile.

- Wardrobe boxes are provided for the hanging clothes, so no need to pack 'em!
- Defrost your freezer in advance. Otherwise, if it drips in the truck, it may damage your goods.
- Pack ספרים in medium size boxes or shrink wrap. (Boxes are preferred for easier handling.)

Moving Day:

- Try ensuring truck space at both locations.
- Movers should be shown exactly where to place and set up furniture pieces.
- All pathways and staircases should be free of any obstacles to allow for easy entry and exit from the house to the truck.
- Be courteous to your movers. Although they are getting paid (and tipped), it is still polite to offer them a cold drink. Give clear instructions if needed in a considerate manner. They are working very hard!
- Keep kids safe. While kids love to be part of the fun and watch movers in action, they should get a designated spot to watch the spectacle and be out of the movers' way.
- Remember to make proper bus changes in advance so all kids can be in the right place at the right time.
